Discussion Group Guests

November 5, 2020

Trinidad Jackson, MS, MPH (Trinidad.jackson@louisville.edu)

Trinidad is interested in issues spanning the spectrum of equity—and that's everything, right? Currently, he is engaged in many initiatives that aim to protect, preserve, and uplift the most marginalized lives, many of which "happen" to be Black and Brown. History is the telescope through which we must look to contextualize and critique our contemporary research endeavors, and I continually attempt to improve upon this process.

Highlighted Guidance

2020 Key Findings Report: Highlights signs of improvement and recognize the challenges that remain to create a fair and just opportunity for everyone to be as healthy as possible.

Trauma-Informed Approaches to
Community Building: An evidencebased strategy in What Works for Health that lifts up local implementation approaches.

Understand and Identify Root Causes
of Inequities Action Learning Guide:
Learn how to identify the underlying factors that create inequities in communities.

Implementing Photovoice in Your Community: This tool provides observational techniques that can supplement other data sources with pictures and observations about the physical environment of the community.

Building a Culture of Health, County by County

A Robert Wood Johnson Foundation program

- The structural violence of white supremacy: Addressing root causes to prevent youth violence (free until 12/20/20). This article explores the University of Louisville Youth Violence Prevention Research Center's (YVPRC) approach to youth violence prevention that aims to change the narrative about youth violence and Black youth focusing on the structural violence they endure, increasing critical consciousness regarding systems and structures that facilitate violence in certain communities.
- Yet We Live, Strive, and Succeed: Using Photovoice to Understand Community Members' Experiences of Justice, Safety, Hope, and Racial Equity. This study employed a Photovoice process to explore experiences and perspectives of residents and people working in organizations that serve West Louisville, and to facilitate dialogue and action leading to social change.

November 12, 2020

T Gonzales, MSW, PMP, Director, Center for Health Equity

T serves the residents of Louisville as Director for the Center for Health Equity. T began working of the Center for Health Equity in 2010 to coordinate the department's Racial Healing and Equity Initiative. T supports the department's strategy to deepen its focus on the root causes of health through authentic community engagement, strategic partnerships, addressing data gaps and challenges, and through policy analysis and development.

- The 2017 Health Equity Report is designed as a tool for policy makers and residents to better understand how they can create more equitable policies and practices, and it examines the history of Louisville and how our past has influenced our present.
- The goal of the Louisville, KY Fiscal Year 2020 Budget Equity Assessment is to create more opportunities to align policy and budget decisions towards equity within local control.

Peer-to-Peer Resources Shared in Discussion Group Sessions

Racism as a Public Health Issue. The American Public Health Association has a growing list of states, cities and counties that are naming racism as a determinant of health and have declared racism as a public health issue.

Training, Guidance

- The Government Alliance on Race and Equity (GARE) is a national network of government working to achieve racial equity and advance opportunities for all.
- The vision for the W.K. Kellogg Foundation's Truth, Racial Healing & Transformation Implementation Guidebook is to improve our capacity as communities and as a country to see ourselves in each other, so that we can shape a more equitable future with opportunities for every child to thrive.
- Project Implicit is a non-profit organization and international collaboration between researchers who are interested in implicit social cognition - thoughts and feelings outside of conscious awareness and control.

Building a Culture of Health, County by County

A Robert Wood Johnson Foundation program

- The Health Opportunity and Equity (HOPE) Initiative was launched to start a new conversation about health because we believe that every person in the U.S., no matter their background or ZIP code, should have a fair and just opportunity for the best possible health and well-being. We set benchmarks and track 24 indicators of health and well-being by race and ethnicity for the nation, all 50 states and D.C. In doing so, we measure how well D.C., states and the nation are doing in providing equitable opportunities to thrive and achieve good health.
- The National Association of Chronic Disease Directors unites 7,000 chronic disease professionals across the United States working in state, tribal, and territorial health departments, nonprofits, academia, and the private industry to promote health and to reduce the burden of chronic disease.
- The CDC Social Vulnerability Index (CDC SVI) is a tool that uses U.S. Census data to determine the social vulnerability of every census tract.

Articles, Documentary

Why police violence needs to be treated as a public health issue. A new study finds that fatal police violence is a leading cause of death for young men in America. The study's lead author tells Vox why that matters.

Taking Action for Racial Equity and Public Health

T Benicio Gonzales, MSW

Louisville Metro Department of Public Health & Wellness Center for Health Equity, Director

> County Health Rankings & Roadmaps November 12, 2020

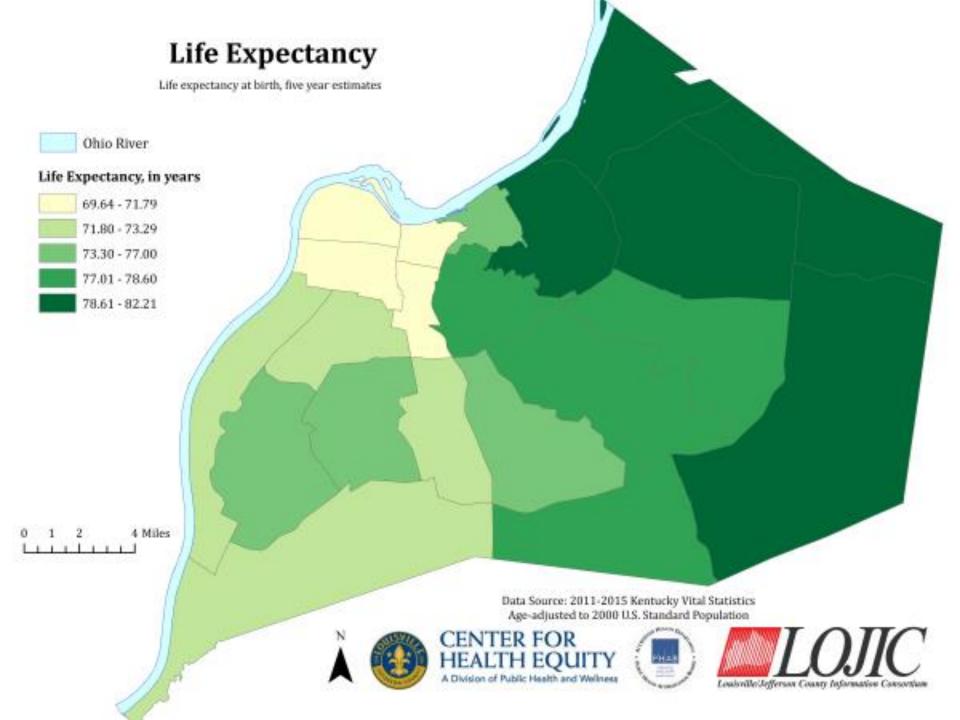

Our Vision

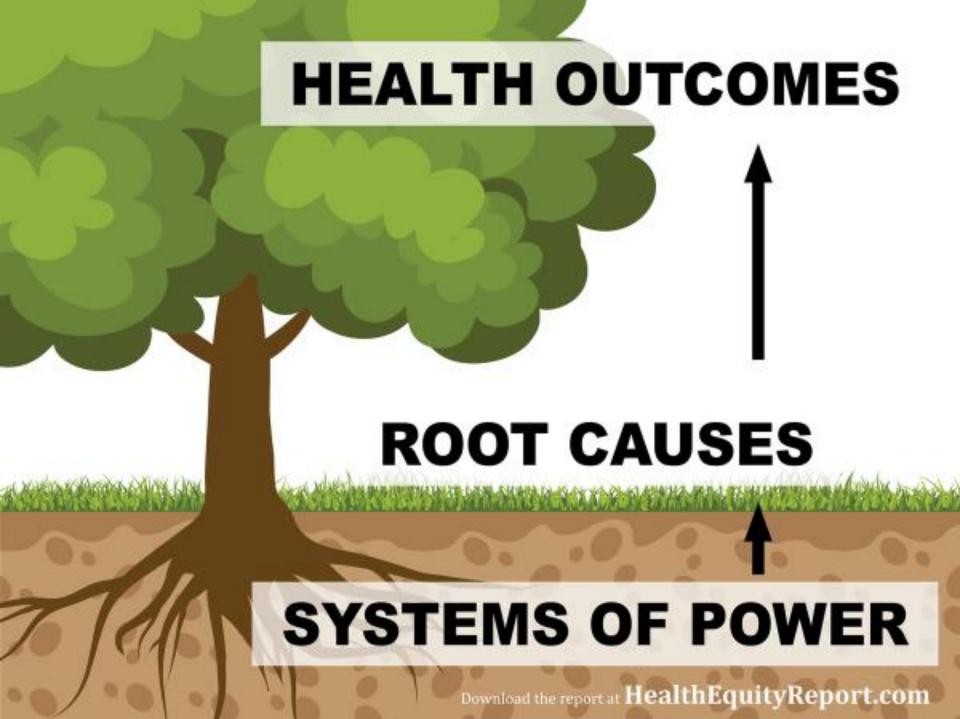

A healthy Louisville where everyone and every community thrives

Our Mission

To achieve health equity and improve the health and well-being of all Louisville residents and visitors

What We Practice

Highlight: Health Equity Report

Highlight: Building a Shared Framework

- Shared definitions
- Learning history and current context
- Introduction to Advancing Racial Equity
- Power analysis training
- Decision-making tools to advance equity

Top administration officials and directors participate in and Advancing Racial Equity training with Government Alliance for Race and Equity and Center for Health Equity staff

Highlight: Racial Equity Action Plan

LMPHW Racial Equity Action Plan

High Level Project Plan

Carry out LMPHW's strategic plan goal #10 and make recommendations to the organization to institutionalize LMPHW's racial equity work and improve community health outcomes. The project will include:

- A project charter
- A review of internal policies and evaluation of policies for equity
- An internal communications plan
- · Revision of current policies and enacting new policies, as needed
- · Written action plan for the department
- Evaluation of implementation

Implementation of the plan to continue through the remainder of the strategic plan period (2019-2021).

Highlight: Health Impact Assessments

Health Impact Assessment of Expungement Policy in Kentucky

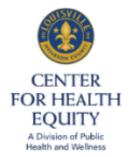

Highlight: Health Equity Fund

The Health Equity Fund seeks to strengthen organizations that are led by people of color whose work is consciously contributing to a racially equitable Louisville.

Priority given to projects that are advancing racial equity at a systems level.

PUBLIC POLICY

national, state, local law Connect with your elected officials!

COMMUNITY

relationships among organizations
How can we link resources together?

ORGANIZATIONAL

organizations, social institutions Change where you work, learn, pray, and play.

INTERPERSONAL

family, friends, social networks Support each other!

INDIVIDUAL

knowledge, attitudes, skills What you can do!

ACTION FOR EQUITY

We must work together at multiple levels to create long-term solutions.

How can you advance racial equity in your community?

Values in Action

- Equity work is about a commitment to transformative, antiracist solutions and related resource reallocation
- Transformation requires all of us and there are roles we all must play in making the change – we must all cocreate something better.
- We must commit to accountability and intervention to protect our vision
- We are only as successful as the collective power we build

DEFINE RACE AND RACISM

- Institutionalized: differential access to resources, services, and opportunities; seems normal and legal
- Interpersonal: differential assumptions and actions towards others; prejudice and discrimination
- Internalized: acceptance of negative messages about their own (and collective) abilities and worth; helpless and hopeless

WHAT'S THE MEANING OF THIS CONTEXT?

We want "JUST" data ...

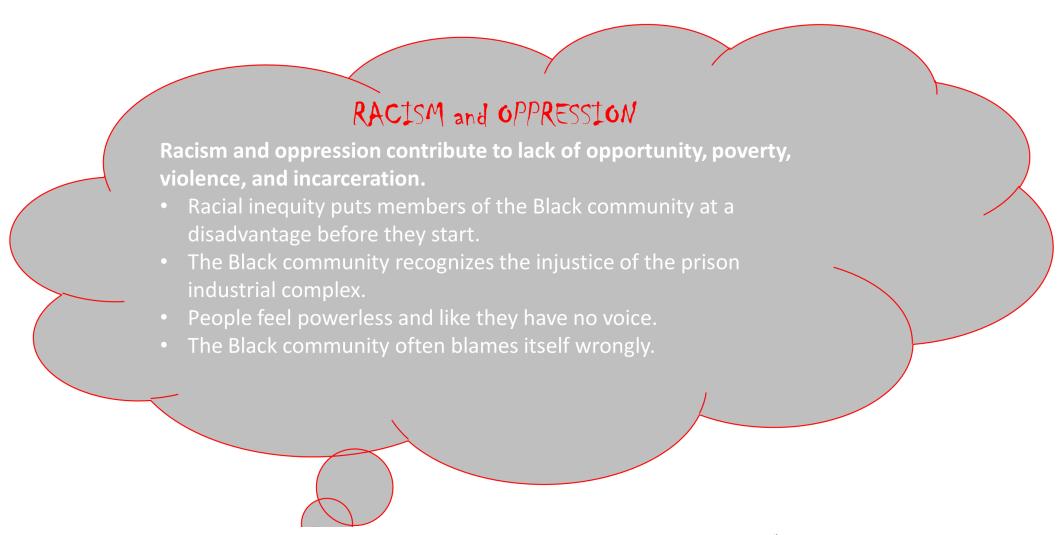

From Ferguson to Louisville

- Interviews
- Captured images related to dichotomies of safety, justice, and hope.
- Image narrative shaped by the following questions: NO INDICTIVIENT
 - What do you SEE here?
 - What's really HAPPENING here?
 - How does this relate to OUR lives?
 - WHY does this situation EXIST?
 - What can we DO about it?

Response Questions

- When you think about what happened in Ferguson, how do you relate that to your experience here in Louisville?
- What are the similarities you see between the two cities?
- What kinds of differences do you see and hear between how things are in Ferguson and how they are here?
- How do these things that you've talked about affect you and your family?
- In your mind, can anything be done to make things better here?

LOSS and TRAUMA

The loss and trauma in the community is so common that people feel frustrated, hopeless, and powerless.

- The community has grown used to loss.
- The public perception of West Louisville and predominantly Black communities focuses on poverty, violence, and drugs.

SYSTEM RELIANCE

We have changed as a society, with more reliance on the system and less reliance on individuals, families, and communities.

- Homes are broken, and issues are generational
- Social cohesion kept Black communities safe in the past, but that has been lost.
- Faith leaders and the church should play an active role in making positive change in the community.
- There has to be some individual accountability for behavior.

DO SOMETHING

There is recognition that we have to stop talking and do something to stop the violence.

- People in the community are fearful for their safety and the safety of their families
- Residents draw on history in terms of understanding current injustice and what should be done.
- People need to take ownership of their communities and be part of the solution.
- Solutions must come from within the community.
- There is strength in numbers; the masses must be mobilized for change to occur.

Live, Strive, Succeed Dialogue

- Tell us about this picture.
- Does this picture speak to anyone else's experience?
- Why does this [situation, problem, strength] exist?
- How can we become empowered by our understanding of this?
- What can we do?

Live, Strive, Succeed Themes

1. Systemic inequalities are apparent and oppressive in West Louisville

2. The city doesn't care about West Louisville—or Black lives

- 3. Black lives and Black history matter
- 4. The need for collective community action

THEME 1: Systemic Inequalities are Apparent and Oppressive in West Louisville

- Memorialization of Thomas Jefferson
 - Presenting colonialism as positive while omitting the genocide and slavery attached to it
- Inequalities in the school system
 - Zero Tolerance policies
 - School to prison pipeline
- Criminal justice system
 - Teaches, reinforces, and benefits from criminal(ized) behavior among Black male youth

HOW DARE YOU

INJUSTICE/RACISM Pam N.

THEME 2: The City Doesn't Care about West Louisville - or Black Lives

- The look of the west end vs. the east end
 - Plenty of neglected properties
 - Trash in streets

Lack of resources to west Louisville

Media portrayal is one-sided and inaccurate

THEME 3: Black Lives and Black History Matter

- Need for promotion of positive self image
 - Emphasis on promoting positive cultural/ethnic identity
- Inspiration comes from knowledge of history
 - Knowing [accurate] history is empowering
 - Seeing others who look like you do great things is motivational

THEME 4: The Need for Collective Community Action

- Take ownership
 - "We have to do something ourselves to make it better"
 - Don't wait for others [outside of community] to make changes
- Adopt a "my brother's keeper" mentality
- Meet the needs of our youth
- To be able to do these things, we need:
 - To know accurate history
 - Know and value our identity
 - Promote, engage, and celebrate the good of the community

LOUISVILLE METRO'S HISTORY

This historical timeline provides brief information on events that shaped Louisville Metro and created the social, political and economic landscape that we see today.

Slavery and Statehood:

Enslaved Africans trafficked by the earliest colonists were forced into unpaid labor on a large scale to clear and settle central Kentucky. When Kentucky attained statehood in 1792, it did so as the first state to sanction slavery in its Constitution.

19th-Century Immigration:

After its canal was completed in 1830, Louisville attracted a huge influx of German and Irish immigrants, triggering an ugly wave of anti-immigrant, anti-Catholic protest that culminated on August 6, 1855—a day known as "Bloody Monday," with rioting, arson, and murder that left at least 22 dead.

The Coming of "Jim Crow" Segregation: By 1900, Louisville had the sixth largest concentration of free Black people of any U.S. city, largely due to being an important junction on the Underground

Railroad. But the 20th century

also brought new forms of racial discrimination all across the South, including in Kentucky, in the form of "Jim Crow" segregation laws, which confined Black people to separate and unequal schools, workplaces, and neighborhoods.

Voting Rights: In Louisville, home to Kentucky's largest concentration of African Americans. the Black community effectively used the power of the ballot to swing elections and leverage political gains. By the early 1900s, Louisville women, both Black and White, worked to win voting rights for women, which became law across the United States with the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. ratified in 1920.

Colonization:

Indigenous peoples lived, hunted, and developed complex societies for thousands of years in what would later become Louisville. After European colonizers who came to North America in search of economic opportunity began to settle here in the early 1770s, they laid claim to all lands that belonged to native peoples.

Steamboats and

the Slave Trade:
The invention of the steamboat in 1811 helped Louisville rise to regional prominence as a shipping hub along the Ohio River and as a regional center for the slave trade, with many Africans sent "down the river" from here to points farther south.

Struggles over Slavery: As conflicts over slavery led to Civil War in 1861, Kentucky remained officially neutral. In reality, White people fought bitterly for both sides while some Blacks fled bondage to serve as Union troops, Kentucky Whites were so divided, and the state was of such strategic importance in the war that President Abraham Lincoln's 1863 Emancipation Proclamation exempted Kentucky. Slavery ended here only in 1865 with the postwar passage of the Thirteenth Amendment -an amendment that Kentucky refused to approve.

Buchanan v. Warley, 1917:

When Louisville passed a housing segregation ordinance in 1914 that restricted residents to moving only onto blocks containing a majority of their own race, a new local NAACP branch challenged the ordinance all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court with the help of local Black journalist William Warley and a White realtor named Charles Buchanan. In 1917, the Supreme Court upheld property rights for both races and outlawed residential segregation ordinances, a major first step to stopping the advance of racial segregation laws.

Racism: Public health issue/crisis

- The health condition must place a large burden on society, a burden that is getting larger despite existing control efforts
- The burden must be distributed unfairly (i.e., certain segments of the population are unequally affected)
- There must be evidence that upstream preventive strategies could substantially reduce the burden of the condition
- Such preventive strategies are not in place.

What are we envisioning?

Questions

- In what ways is your _____ using data to create and perpetuate destructive AND constructive narratives about Black and other racially marginalized communities?
- What historical and contemporary laws uphold AND dismantle racist practices?
 - Who are the names/faces behind the laws?
- Discuss whether or not you believe we can liberate our collective society from racism.
