Highlighted Guidance

ChangeLab Solutions produced the Assessing & Addressing Preemption toolkit which provides an overview of preemptions, outlines how local authority is granted in different states, and identifies three scenarios that a local policy campaign might face.

Fundamentals of Preemption and Consequences of Preemption for Public Health & Equity are two ChangeLab Solutions fact sheets for public health advocates who want to understand the basics of preemption and why it matters for health equity.

The Equitable Enforcement to Achieve Health Equity guide helps policymakers, advocates, and enforcement officials understand the equity implications of traditional public health enforcement tools and explore strategies to avoid unintended negative consequences when enforcing the law..

Developing Equitable Enforcement Provisions is an infographic and fact sheet to help policymakers to help policymakers develop equitable enforcement provisions and better understand the equitable enforcement ecosystem, particularly in the context of employment and labor standards.

Webinar Guest Resources

Sabrina Adler, Vice President of Law and Katie Michel, Senior Attorney with ChangeLab Solutions

Resources on Equitable Enforcement:

- Sabrina Adler, vice president of law at ChangeLab Solutions, and Maya Hazarika Watts, senior attorney at ChangeLab Solutions, discuss equitable enforcement in a recent interview with Ada Inman for the ProGov21 podcast.
- The American Journal of Public Health article, "Equitable Enforcement of Pandemic-Related Public Health Laws", provides examples of COVD-era enforcement, showing how decisionmakers can apply equitable enforcement principles to public health law and policy both during the pandemic and after the crisis recedes.
- For additional resources on equitable enforcement, see this collection page on the ChangeLab Solutions website.

Resources on Preemption:

- An "Equity-First Approach to Assessing Preemption" is a journal article by ChangeLab Solutions that proposes a new framework for assessment and research.
- For additional resources on preemption, see this collection page on the ChangeLab Solutions website.
- The Local Solutions Support Center (LSSC) is a leader in preemption work and campaigns, and offers multiple resources via their We defend and advance local democracy webpage.
- Learn more about how preemption has worked:
  - This Voices for Healthy Kids resource includes stories of state- and local-level campaign wins in Maryland and Texas, and provide tips for how communities and organizations can advance programs that support health-focused policy change.
  - Fighting Labor Policy Preemption that Undermines Local Power and the Democratic Process is a report by the National Employment Law Project that describes the experience of cities in Texas, Missouri, and Colorado where workers and advocates fought for stronger local paid sick leave or minimum wage laws.

Discussion Group Session Resources

- Understanding the Equitable Enforcement Ecosystem from ChangeLab Solutions is a resource that profiles the roles of some Community Based Organizations (CBOs) in enforcing fair labor laws.
- The City of Tulsa's Gold Star Landlord Program provides incentives and rewards for those who engage in best rental practices as a positive enforcement strategy.
- Learn more about the approach in Klamath County, Oregon to tobacco retail licensing and the Healthy Klamath community committee that supported the tobacco retail licensing ordinance.

Healthy Places by Design Resources
